

University Clubs Face Suspension

Failure To File Activity Forms Brings Action

• REORGANIZATION and clarification of campus activities groups appear imminent Sunday when the Student Council revealed that more than 70 organizations failing to submit requested records of their activity are now virtually in a state of suspension.

In a meeting held last month, the Council passed a motion removing organizations who failed to answer a request for return of questionnaires from the "rights, privileges, and honors" of campus social and professional groups. First appeal for the reports was made early in December.

Cue and Curtain Banned. In making the list known Sunday, Activities Director Bob Howard stressed that organizations who failed to file the required forms may still do so, and thus theoretically return to the good graces of the governing body. Also, representatives of such groups may appear at the next meeting scheduled for Friday of this week at 5 p.m., to explain their status.

The 70-odd groups affected are not entitled to use of Council allotment funds, Howard stated. Cue and Curtain, the Interfraternity Council and Omicron Delta Kappa, men's honorary group, were among major organizations "suspended."

The Student Council motion: "It was moved that in the next issue of The Hatchet the Student Council publish a list of those student activities which have not communicated and said shall be declared as inactive organizations at the University and . . . no longer entitled to the rights, privileges and honors pertaining thereto, and furthermore that the Activities Director inform such groups of activities as he deems necessary to send a representative to the first Student Council meeting of the new year."

The following organizations have replied to the Student Council questionnaire: Baptist Student Union, Canterbury Club, Christian Science Organization, Newman Club, Westminster Club, Symphony Club, Band, Cherry Tree, Hatchet, International Students Society, Junior Pan Hel and the Pan Hellenic Society, Woman's Athletic Association. Others are: Hellenic Society, Woman's Rifle Club, Religious Council, Cheerleaders, Strong Hall Council, Delta Phi Epsilon, French Club, Spanish Club, Lester F. Ward Sociological Society, Portuguese Club, Mortar Board and Woman's Intramural Board.

Organizations which appeared in last year's Cherry Tree but which have not replied and are therefore no longer permitted to continue under the Council ruling, are: Wesley Club, Handbook, Colonial Campus Club, Interfraternity Council and Pledge Council, Woman's Student Government Association, Naturalists Society, Sigma Tau, Alpha Lambda Delta, Mortar and Prestle, Gate and Key, Iota Sigma Psi, Omicron Delta Kappa, Phi Epsilon Sigma, Pi Gamma Mu, Pi Lambda Theta, Smith-Reed-Russell Society, William Beaumont Medical Society, Alpha Chi Sigma, Alpha Epsilon Iota, Alpha Kappa Kappa, Alpha Phi Epsilon.

Chi Epsilon, Phi Chi, Phi Delta Delta, Phi Delta Epsilon, Phi Pi Epsilon, Phi Delta Epsilon, Theta Tau, Engineer's Council, Home Ec Club, A.F.A. King Obstetrical Society and Cue and Curtain.

Organizations not represented in the last yearbook and who did not submit the required form, are: Avukah, Jewish Student Foundation, Luther Club, Ace of Spades Bridge Club, Chess Club, Debate Council, Literary Club, Masonic Club, Men's Independents, Rousers, Riding Club, Sailing Club, Student Congress, Varsity Letterman's Club, Women Fencing Club, Men's Fencing Club, Artus, Delta Sigma Rho, Kappa Kappa Psi, Sigma Gamma Epsilon, Sigma Pi Sigma, Alpha Kappa Psi, Delta Theta Phi, Kappa Beta Pi, Nu Sigma Nu, Phi Alpha Delta, Phi Delta Phi, Phi Sigma Rho, Aesculapean Society, Student Bar Association, American Society of Civil Engineers, Men's Education Club, American Institute Electrical Engineers, Swisher History Club, American Society Mechanical Engineers, Psychology Club, Orchestra, Student Branch of American Pharmaceutical Association.

The following groups did not answer, but have faculty or administrative personnel as officers: Phi Beta Kappa, Sigma Xi, Order of the Coif, Law Review, Glee Club.

Frosh Honorary To Initiate Ten

• PHI ETA SIGMA, freshman honorary scholastic fraternity, will initiate 10 new members tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in Columbian House.

James Huddleston, acting president of freshman year, Secretary Pete Noss and other officers of the fraternity will initiate their new fellows.

Swett Elected Senior Prexy; Gallagher, Mina Brown Win

TIM SWETT

• Elected SENIOR Class President by a large majority, Tim Swett announced Sunday that a full program for prospective graduates will be arranged and put into effect with immediate bearing on the February and June classes.

Elected with Swett to serve as class officers were Joe Gallagher, vice president, and Mina Brown, secretary-treasurer.

Following an executive meeting of the new officers yesterday, Swett announced that three committees will be set up subject to the approval of the Student Council. The groups include the Class Gift, Social, and Publicity Committees.

The establishment of a group to consider the Class Gift this year marks an innovation in committees. Swett revealed also that new officers hope the present class will set a precedent of holding a senior class play under the banner of Cue and Curtain. He suggested that such a play be held sometime after the opening of the new auditorium.

First general meeting of the entire February and June graduating classes had been tentatively set for Wednesday of next week. Seniors will be asked to approve the already-established committees and to formulate class policy.

"The meeting will be very informal," Swett said, "and class views on its officers' opinions, including the class play idea will be sought." A member of the Faculty will be asked to be guest speaker at this first meeting.

President Swett, a transfer student from Shenandoah Junior College, is a three-letter man in football and a member of Cue and Curtain. His previous activities include membership in Tau Sigma Rho, co-director of a Buff and Blue, and social chairman of the Varsity Club.

Joe Gallagher served for two years on the basketball squad and this year captains the team. He is enlisted in the Marine reserve program. Mina Brown's activities include: president of Kappa Kappa Gamma, member of Mortar Board, the Glee Club, and Cue and Curtain. Co-editor of the Handbook; and president of W. S. G. A.

Other candidates in the election were: Ellis Hall and Bill Stell, president; Marshall Gardner, vice president; Alice Newcomer, and Anne Hassell, secretary.

Interfraternity Pledge Body Plans Dance

• PLANS FOR A formal dance on January 15 were drawn up by the Interfraternity pledge council at their last meeting and await only the approval of the Interfraternity Council before they can be put into effect. The dance is to be at the Annapolis Hotel.

Officers of the pledge council this semester are Jay Dodd, Tau Kappa Epsilon, president; Morton Seward, Kappa Alpha, social chairman, and Ralph Hartung, Kappa Sigma, treasurer.

Proclaimed a financial and social success by all who were there, the interfraternity goat show was won by the pledge class of Phi Sigma Kappa. Their presentation featured such actors as Art Mattson of Cue and Curtain fame (he played the labor agitator in the recent production of "TWOTD"), who took the part of Ima, a patient of Dr. Paul Taylor and his able assistant, plumber Ken Murphy. Joe Shaw was the announcer.

This was the first time in several years that Phi Kappa Alpha has not won first place. Dean Garnett was the judge of the show which was the principal entertainment at the annual interfraternity pledge smoker held before the holidays at the Wardman Park Hotel.

Dean Elmer L. Kayser was guest speaker at the smoker. He expressed the hope that fraternities would always remain on campus.

Goat Show May Be Held At Buff 'n' Blue

• THE ANNUAL Junior Panhel Goat Show, for which three different dates have been scheduled already, is going to be held some time, Panhellenic officials are determined.

"But we just don't seem to be able to get a night," said Mildred Blevins, vice-president of the senior body and advisor to the pledge group.

At a meeting of the Panhellenic Council yesterday, it was decided to confer with Vivian Hoopaw and Bill Stell, co-directors of the Buff 'n' Blue to see if they would consider working out some sort of arrangement to present the Goat Show as part of the entertainment for the forthcoming Buff 'n' Blue next Friday. It was not expected that any definite decision would be reached on this matter until tonight.

The fact that the Goat Show will run a minimum of an hour and a half—with ten sororities giving skits of from eight to ten minutes—was seen to be an item against including it as the floor show for the "dry night club." The fact that Stell and Miss Hoopaw have made few arrangements for the dance, as yet, may make this plan practicable, however.

If it is not possible to work a merger, the Goat Show may be held Tuesday. Refusal of the sororities to cancel their meetings next Monday blocked the proposal that the show be held then.

Many Alumni Serve Abroad With U. S. Armed Forces

• MANY alumni and former students of the University are now doing their bit in the service of their country, some assigned to local stations and others on active duty in foreign points.

Thomas H. Hutchinson, Jr., studied here for two years. He won his Navy "Wings of Gold" and was commissioned an Ensign in the Naval Reserve this week following completion of the pre-flight training course at the U. S. Naval Air Training Center, Pensacola, Fla.

Ensign Hutchinson was a member of the largest single group of men ever to be commissioned at one time in the history of the Pensacola base. Having been designated a naval aviator, Ensign Hutchinson will go on active duty at one of the Navy's air operational training centers before being assigned to a combat zone.

Gerald C. Hennessey studied at the University for a year before entering the naval service. After winning his Navy "Wings of Gold" he was commissioned an Ensign in the Naval Reserve this week following completion of the pre-flight training course at the U. S. Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Fla. He will be stationed at the Pensacola base with duty as a flight instructor.

Ensign Hennessey began preliminary training at the U. S. Naval Reserve Aviation Base in New Orleans last April before going to the "Annapolis of the Air" for basic and advanced training.

Philip A. Sager, Jr., has completed the Air Force Advanced Flying School training at Luke Field, Phoenix, Ariz., and received the coveted silver wings and a second lieutenant's commission in the Air Corps Reserve.

William J. Couperthwaite is a graduate of the University and commissioned as a second lieutenant, is now an instructor at the Army Flying School in Roswell, N. Mex.

Army, Navy Consider University As Servicemen's Training Site; Reserves Called Up After June

Status of Army Men Cleared Up By New Program

• PRACTICALLY ALL University students in the enlisted reserves may be called to active duty after July 1 under a program announced recently by the Army, Navy and War Manpower Commission.

All students in the Army reserves, except seniors, medical and engineering students, will be called to active duty two weeks after the end of the current semester which closes at the end of this month. Seniors, medical and engineering students in the Army reserves will be called to active duty in June.

Students in the Army Air Forces enlisted reserves will be called to active duty at the discretion of the Air Corps as training facilities are made available.

Under the Navy's V-1 and V-7 program, students will be called to active duty before July 1 when they will be assigned to approve colleges to complete from one to five semesters of specialized training.

Enlistment in the Navy V-1 program is open to students under 18 until March 15, but older students may not enlist in either the Army or the Navy.

Some 350 students are enrolled in the reserve programs of this University. Approximately 75 of the students in the Army enlisted reserves will be subject to call by February. Dean William C. Johnstone of the Junior College revealed.

Nearly 200 men are registered in the Navy and Marine Corps reserves here, while there are some 25 students in the Army Air Force reserve program.

New regulations drawn up by the Bureau of Selective Service of the War Manpower Commission provide that occupational deferments from the draft may be granted to the following classes of students:

Medical students, pre-medical and pre-dental students who have completed one year of college work, graduate engineering students, undergraduate engineering students who have completed one year of college work, graduate and undergraduate students specializing in chemistry, physics or bacteriology who are within two years of completion of their specialized curricula.

The Dean of the College or School in which a student is enrolled may make recommendations to the Selective Service Bureau for deferment of any student meeting the above qualifications.

Seniors in the Army enlisted reserves will be allowed to continue their schooling until June if they graduate at that time. Medical and pre-med students in the reserve program must be in good standing to avoid being called before June.

At the same time that regulations were issued clearing up the status of all reserves, the Army and Navy jointly announced a sweeping program whereby enlisted men in the armed services will be sent to selected colleges or universities for specialized training.

"The recent amendment to the Selective Service and Training Act reducing the draft age to 18 years will eliminate the principal source of men college students," the Army and Navy warned in announcing the new training program.

Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson admitted that the Army educational training program would "go a long way" to destroy temporarily liberal education in the United States. But, the War Secretary warned, unless the armed forces' training program is carried out to help win the war "there is no hope for liberal education in this country."

Stimson pointed out that all training under the vast program of the armed services is of necessity primarily technical and other training must remain in abeyance.

In drawing up the educational training program, the Armed Services consulted with the War Manpower Commission, the Office of Education, a Committee of the American Council on Education, and the Navy Advisory Council on Education. The War and Navy Departments will rely on these same sources for further assistance (See RESERVES, Page 4)

Rifle Club Meets Tonight on Range

• RIFLE Club will meet tonight at 7:30 p.m. at the rifle range in the basement of Corcoran Hall. All night school students, and day students, who couldn't come to the pre-Christmas meeting and anyone interested may attend.

Classes in rifle instruction to be started tomorrow and Thursday, Jan. 6-7, at 12-10 a.m. in rifle range in the basement of Corcoran Hall. Barbara Simmons, captain of the team, announces a meeting of the officers after Tuesday evening.

Buff Quint Meets Georgetown At Tech Gym Tomorrow Night

By THERON RICE

• IN WHAT PROMISES TO BE one of the most thrilling basketball games to be seen in the District this season, the Colonials and the high-flying Georgetown Hoyas clash tomorrow night at Tech Gym in the eighth game of their modern series.

The Colonials are at present in the midst of a two-game losing streak, after two early season victories over Fort Meade and Oklahoma A & M. The Hoyas, however, have fairly swamped their first five opponents and will find their first real test in the Colonials.

This year's Georgetown five, described by Coach Elmer Ripley as "a really terrific bunch of kids," will enter the game a prohibitive favorite, but in the seven previous contests between the two teams the favorite has won only once.

University students' activity books will be honored for admission to the contest, since this is the Buff's home game.

Leading the Hoyas into this battle will be one of the hardest one-two punches the Hilltop school has boasted in years. For in Andy Kosteka, 6 foot 3 inch sophomore forward, and John Mahknen, 6 foot 8 inch freshman center, the Hoyas have two of the finest court men in this vicinity. These two beanpoles have each averaged almost 17 points per game in the Hoyas' first five contests, but they aren't the only two men who will need careful watching.

In Billy Hassett, brother of the New York Yankee first baseman, and Danny Kraus, the Hoyas own two of the finest playmakers and ball-handlers ever to perform here. Rounding out the first team will be either Miggs Reilly, who played with the latter two in New York, or Danny Gabbianelli.

In reserve and just aching to get a crack at the Buffmen, the Hoyas have Lloyd Potolichio, another New Yorker; "Stretch" Goodie, who at 6 foot 8 1/2 inches tops even Mahknen; Ed Lavin, another soph, and several other frosh who as yet have seen but little action.

15 New Arts Topics Added H. S. Seniors Plan to Admit Is Rejected

• FIFTEEN courses will be added to the liberal arts curriculum in February to meet the needs of the National Emergency.

Inclusion of the new subjects is largely the work of the "Committee on Course Offerings for the Second Semester," whose recommendations were published in the last issue of The Hatchet.

The courses are: Economics 128 (Financing War and Reconstruction), Economics 169X (Economics of War), Economics 190 (International Economic Reconstruction), English for Foreign Students, French 110 (Conversation and Composition), Geography 142 (Physical Geography of Europe and Asia), Military German, Greek IX, History 146 (Historical and Economic Geography of Africa and the Near East including Geopolitics), History 158 (Historical Backgrounds of War Issues), Latin IX.

Political Science 162 (Administrative Law), Political Science 172 (Postwar Problems of International Politics and Organization), Spanish 110 (Conversation and Composition), and Spanish 111X (Commercial Spanish).

French 110 and Spanish 110 are designed for students who will enter the armed forces and for government personnel who may be going abroad. They include vocabulary and reading in the military, naval, economic, and political aspects of the languages. History 148 and Geography 142 are geography courses.

The Course Offerings committee under the chairmanship of Professor Edward H. Schrt, was appointed in November to recommend a policy to keep intact and even augment the liberal arts program of the University in line with the war needs. With the Columbian and Junior Colleges' acceptance of most of the recommended courses, the work of the committee is now complete.

Dean William C. Johnstone of the Junior College stated that a number of first semester subjects will be repeated in February as an aid to freshmen entering in midyear.

The courses include: Principles of Accounting, Economics IX, English IX, Mathematics IIX, Physics 5X, Political Science 9X, Psychology IX, Public Speaking IX, Spanish IX, and Elementary Typing.

School Receives Questions From Armed Forces

By VERA STEINES

• POSSIBILITY that this University might be one of a group of colleges selected for military training purposes became apparent recently when it received a questionnaire from the joint Army, Navy and War Manpower Commission.

Two other local colleges, Georgetown and Maryland Universities also received questionnaires.

Courses Here Now

President Cloyd H. Marvin stated that the University, if chosen, would not have to alter its present program materially. Over 65 per cent of our students are now enrolled in defense courses, he said, five thousand have graduated from specialized advance engineering, and 2,000 are now enrolled. In addition, the University's Extension Department has a broad series of language courses, and we are the only college in the country to train dieticians specifically for the Navy.

Presidents of all three universities said it was too early to say how their programs might be affected, in the event of selection. At the War Manpower Commission a spokesman said that while details of the plan were not yet worked out, every effort would be made to spread the 250,000 service students thinly enough among selected colleges so that such colleges would not be disrupted. It was believed that non-service students would be able to continue their courses without interruption.

Georgetown Is Active

At Georgetown an official said that almost every physically fit student in the university is enrolled in at least one defense course. These include ROTC, medical and infantry units, commando training and Naval, Marine and Army Reserves.

At Maryland University a spokesman for their Engineering and Training Office said it was impossible to estimate how the many defense courses operating from there might be affected by selection. The War Training Office, which is financed by a special fund granted by Congress, conducts night classes for industrial students outside the regular student body. Courses are given at College Park and also in Baltimore, Hagerstown, Cumberland, and the District.

Speaking in New York recently, Lt. Col. Harley B. West of the War Department general staff has disclosed a plan for large-scale conversion of American colleges and universities into training bases for the armed forces.

West told a meeting of the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools that students will be selected from "young men in the Army who have demonstrated aptitude to receive such higher education," and that they will live under Army discipline and receive Regular Army pay while in training.

Dr. Edmund E. Day, president of Cornell University, announced that as many as 250,000 service men will be sent to colleges under the plan.

Relation Voluntary

Military representatives emphasized the fact that "any relation between the armed services and collegiate institutions is going to be purely voluntary and there is to be no requisitioning," West said.

Joseph W. Barker, dean of the Columbia School of Engineering and special assistant to Secretary of the Navy Knox, told the educators, "There is no desire on the part of either the Army or the Navy to dictate to you what you must do. We are hoping to give you a maximum of leeway in presentation of material and a maximum of academic freedom."

West said emphasis in instruction will be placed on scientific and technical courses. Military training will be subordinated to academic work, he said, since the students already will have received military instruction before enrollment.

Schools selected for the program, Colonel West said, will be "those in position to furnish the type of instruction required, with facilities for housing and feeding the men."

Plan Starts Soon

He stated the government would like to set the plan in operation "at the earliest possible moment." The training program is based on the supposition of a long war, he said, and men who enter the courses "will not emerge before the end of 1943, the middle of 1944, or even 1945."

The Council Acts

• THE CURRENT ACTION of the Student Council declaring inactive all activities that have not responded to its questionnaire seems to be a sound one. Its firm stand on the matter will compel the organizations that are still active and want to stay that way to realize that there exists a Council to which they are responsible. Such organizations will submit their replies on the double, and when they get through the Student Council will have a pretty good idea as to which groups around school are active and which are not.

Just what they intend to do with this information when they get it is another question. There has been some talk of causing the formation of activities with similar interests into groups such as the Religious Council. Such action would result in closer cooperation with the Student Council and would enable the people to face their war-time problems more effectively. The manpower problem is getting to a point where, unless the Army decides to send some soldiers back to school in September, this campus as well as many another will be as maleless as the W. C. T. U.

So, if the action means closer coordination of activities with the Student Council for the common good, all right. But it also may be a continuation of a War Council policy announced early this year but not carried through and apparently forgotten—that of abolishing all activities not contributing directly to the war effort.

Liberal education as it is conventionally known may soon be put away on a shelf for the duration due to the inevitable action of the draft and the requirements of the armed forces. The intention of the armed forces is to place some of the young enlisted men in schools around the country to study in specialized fields. The purpose of this move is solely to provide training needed by the armed services; there is no motive to preserve the colleges and universities.

Student activities, for many reasons, have never reached the high level here at the University that would be desirable. The number of existing organizations that have become dormant during the past year will probably be found relatively large at the completion of the survey now being conducted by the Student Council. To a large extent, the organizations suspending activities are forced to do so because of the limited amount of spare time of their members and the loss of membership due to the factors which have caused a general decrease in enrollment at the University.

The war may last a long time, but we are all convinced that it will not last forever. One of the responsibilities of those remaining behind the lines of battle is to maintain those institutions upon which our culture and civilization are based if such can be done without curtailing the war effort in order that those who return may find life substantially the same as when they left. To do otherwise would force upon those returning the task of going through a large part of the evolution of ideas and experiences that brought about our pre-war cultural level.

Among our student groups are a large number of honorary fraternities and sororities. These groups would presumably be the first to be forced to suspend activities for lack of any connection between their activities and the war effort. The time that could be saved from these group activities if they were abolished, however, would be so small as to make invalid the argument that the individuals involved could devote the time saved for other more important activities.

Other student groups could by more or less far-fetched rationalizations tie up their activities with the war effort. Where the line would be drawn it is impossible to state. In the last analysis, student activities belong in the broad category of liberal education which should be preserved to the largest extent compatible with the factors directly affecting the war effort.

A sound policy for student activities for the duration is: "Let well enough alone."

Our Fighting Allies

EDITOR'S NOTE—Mr. Nixon came to the United States from Greece not long before the war. There he has spent ten years as a student. In his first year at the University he was elected Greek Correspondent of the Hellenic Society of GWU, and he is probably the most informed person in the campus that can give us a true picture of what goes on inside our enslaved ally.

Other articles which will help us to reach a better understanding of the effect that war is having upon the nations that fight side by side with us, particularly in education, will appear in subsequent issues of The Hatchet, written by members of the faculty and students.

By XENOPHON NIXON

• When an actor uses the word "tragedy" to describe a truly tragic situation, one tends to assume that he is exaggerating. Because, in a tragedy, used in the theatrical sense of the term, one expects a few of the characters to die. What is taking place in the Greek tragedy today, what is being enacted at this moment throughout my country, is the last act of a tragedy, whose denouement, if it be not arrested, will end in a total extermination of the protagonists—the approximately 7,000,000 people of Greece.

To begin with let me bring out one of the freshest tragedies, so often repeated by the cruel conquerors of terrorism to innocent enslaved peoples. Only a few weeks ago at the time of the magnificent American invasion of North Africa on the one hand, and the disastrous defeat of Rommel's army by the British in Egypt on the other, there was a demonstration in Athens! Greek students gathered outside the University and in various public squares, in groups, have shouted, "Down with Axis!" and hailed "Victory with the Allies." Then, what do you think has happened? Immediately they were all arrested by the Nazis to be imprisoned and sent to a concentration camp probably, but a few of them resisted to it very strongly. Well, those were shot on the spot!

As a result of such and other similar persecutions of the Hellenic students came the following proclamation:

"The proclamation of the students, addressed to the youth of the world, is an interesting and historical document:

"Brother students of the whole world:

XENOPHON NIXON

"We, the students of Greece, raise against tyranny the blood-stained flag of the Acropolis. From our valleys, our cities and our mountains, where we fight on, we send to you, who fight the same fight, our greetings.

"After the battles of Pindus and Thermopylae, we, the oppressed conquerors, have taken on our shoulders the mantle of the guerrilla. From the mountain summits, we fight on.

"Thermopylae is not dead. True to our duty, we guard the pass still, against the day when you shall join us in the final battle against the new barbarians from the North. We await you, not at geographical Thermopylae where Leonidas and his 300 died, but at symbolic Thermopylae, the boundary between culture and barbarity.

"We stand in defense of the students' classroom, the laboratory, the rostrum of mankind.

"Brother students of the whole world, guardians of the most sacred tradition of civilization, fighters of freedom and human dignity, battle with all your strength against the new barbarians.

"Guard Thermopylae! They shall not pass! Even with our corpses we shall build the walls against which they will strike in vain. We will be victorious!

"And when that day comes, brother students, we shall raise again the blood-stained flag of the Acropolis, symbol of eternal victory over passing woes and banner of liberty for all mankind."

What is happening in Greece today is the methodical and relentless application of a program which has for its purpose the complete extinction of the Greek people. To this end, three accomplices are working systematically—the Italian Fascists, the German Nazis and the Bulgarians—three nations whom the Greek people never sought to bother in any way. As a matter of fact, in the case of one of these peoples, the Italians, because of their proximity and old common struggles, the Greeks used to call them brothers, using the Italian word fratelli, instead of the Greek word for brothers.

But it is not hatred alone that motivates these enemies of my race. There is another reason. Envy on the part of the Fascists and Nazis; the jealousy they feel when faced by a proud people which will not concede that it has been defeated, but which, on the contrary, defies and humiliates its conquerors by its stand—the stand of freemen against slaves.

And now, here is the story of an eyewitness who only came to America recently, fleeing the Axis-held Greece:

Athens, the beautiful, clean capital of Greece, is now an immense garbage can. Even the most centrally located public squares and streets are filled with piles of refuse. And, as you walk, if there is any strength left in you, you can see the refuse stir as if animals lived underneath and were coming up for light. These are not animals, but wretched human beings searching in the garbage to find a piece of rind or a moldy crust.

If you walk in the main streets of Athens for two or three hours, you may see five or six persons drop on the sidewalk. They are either dead or so exhausted from hunger that they will die within a few hours. I am not speaking of the poorer sections of the city, where poor people lived in former times. Today, in Greece, there are no rich and poor. There are only starving people.

The body will remain for many hours in the middle of the sidewalk, exactly where it fell. The passers-by come close for an instant and do the one thing they can do—cover up the emaciated face with a newspaper. Hitler's Germans and Mussolini's Italians, unperturbed and well-fed, pass by. They don't turn to look, not even out of curiosity. The body lies for so long because the solitary wagon provided by the burial service is busy and will be long in getting to this spot. One day I saw eight dead persons, about noontime, lying in main thoroughfares of the city. All were covered with old newspapers.

Alumnus Prevo Returns to America From Service With Flying Tigers

• HOME FROM the war in the Far East is Major Samuel Prevo, former surgeon with the Flying Tigers, and graduate of the University's Medical School, where he also served as instructor.

After more than a year in China, where he served with the now-famous American Volunteer Group and later with the Army Air Forces, Prevo is stationed temporarily at Bolling Field.

His most vivid memory of his service with the Tigers seems to be the sight of friends machine-gunned while they dangled helplessly from parachutes.

Prevo served in Rangoon during the all-out Jap attack. Under bombings and strafings, he labored steadily to keep the scant supply of volunteer pilots in the air against the enemy. He performed operations behind hospital curtains of the blacked-out city. For a time he administered both the hospitals of the RAF and the American Volunteer Group.

When evacuation of Rangoon was finally forced by the arrival of land troops in March, Major Prevo and his hospital attaches moved to the eastern China front. At Hongkeng, Major Prevo and three others were spotted on an airfield by a Jap Zero. They dove into a slit trench, where machine-gun slugs spattered around them, but were not hit.

Prevo's favorite stories are of men who didn't know what the word "quit" meant. Like his friend, Pilot Officer A. B. Christman, former syndicate cartoonist, who was shot through the neck one day, but returned to fight ten days later. When his plane was hit, he had to jump, and a Jap pilot shot him while he swung in a parachute.

On July 4, when the Army Air Forces took over the American Volunteer Group, Prevo was given his commission. He had been called for active duty from a reserve commission in January, 1941. He became one of the four surgeons serving with the Flying Tigers.

Major Prevo received his B.S. from Purdue University. He graduated from the University Medical School in 1937, and then served two years on the staff of Emergency Hospital. His home is in Marshall, Ill.

Inside Track On . . .

Kimber Vought

• THE Inside Track this week is somewhat in the nature of a farewell. It is a column about someone who should have been on these pages long ago. And that person is Kimber Vought.

The president of the Student Council is probably the best known undergraduate on the University campus, no matter who he may be. Everybody knows who he is, by sight if not by speaking acquaintance. But we are willing to bet that Kim Vought spoke to more people than any other one student on the campus. He was that sort of person.

Most of the references to Kim seem to be in the past tense, which seems more natural now that the Marines, like the Royal Mounted Police, have finally got their man. It is GW's misfortune that their man in this case had to be Kim. Kim would have been a likely choice for the outstanding senior man in the Class of 43. Besides the presidency of the Student Council, he held innumerable other positions. He was a co-director of the Food Drive. He was Inter-Fraternity delegate for the Sigma Nus. He was Freshman Director of the Student Council. He was vice-president of ODK. He sang in the Glee Club.

But when you have his record, you haven't got Kim. And Kim is more important than any of his records. He was definitely a leader. He had an indescribable way of inspiring confidence, and of taking over a situation. He was extremely competent. But the nicest thing that can be said about him is that everybody liked him. Despite the fact that he was a politician, despite the fact that he held important positions, he had no enemies. Which, we think, is the supreme compliment.

All in all, GW was certainly lucky to have him. And everybody who knew him as they did.

Letter to the Editors

To the Editors:

Three times this year you have received and printed letters from Ward McCabe, who states: "During the last seven years I have been proud to write for The Hatchet." Each letter has criticized you severely and the last was such a violent, inaccurate and completely unjustifiable attack that an answer must be made. The present Hatchet on all the cardinal points of journalistic ethics," which is a pretty large challenge. The only thing which I challenge is the validity of anything McCabe has to say on this subject.

Despite the build-up he gives himself about the seven long years, his contribution to The Hatchet has been small. In the last four years his reportorial activity has been limited mainly to "coverage" of those organizations which he has promoted and he has been more of a publicity agent than a member of The Hatchet staff.

Whether his failure to rise higher than the senior staff (closed only to freshmen) was due to a lack of interest or to a lack of ability I do not care to discuss, but the fact remains that he never amounted to much on The Hatchet. So much for his seven-year hitch.

McCabe's criticisms of The Hatchet center about its alleged editorial policy concerning the administration of the University. Whether or not The Hatchet is opposed to administration policies, as he claims, it is quite clear that McCabe is not opposed. His remarks at the last ODK academic committee meeting, and his last letter to The Hatchet are sufficient evidence to support that statement. This is my second reason for declaring his remarks about The Hatchet worthless. He is prejudiced.

I now lift a portion of his letter which I believe states his position:

"Most of them (student leaders to whom McCabe says he talked) agree that the University stands well in student relations; where will you find an administration so accessible and reasonable on student affairs?"

The first part of this sentence is an atrocious piece of skulduggery.

I feel that I could be accused of understatement if I referred to Mr. McCabe as a gross exaggerator. With very little effort, I can find two student leaders who do not agree with that statement for every one McCabe can dig up who will testify in favor of it—and remember, Ward has been here for seven arduous years.

For the present, let me refer you to the officials of the University Band, recent officials of the Cherry Tree (this year's battle to retain the yearbook has not started yet) and the many ambitious student leaders who sought to establish a literary magazine—the Helicon—on this campus.

The second part of the sentence, as I have said, indicates McCabe's position. I do not agree that the administration is as sympathetic to student activities as he seems to think. The sentence is peculiarly worded but I gather that it implies that this University's administration is very reasonable and very accessible compared to other University administrations in the United States—or maybe in the entire world; he doesn't say.

To sum it all up, I, a student interested in activities in general and The Hatchet in particular, am sick of reading letters by McCabe. He says he has been here at least seven years. By now, the students who entered George Washington with him are no longer here. But Ward McCabe lingers on. Why doesn't he quit activities? I seem to recall a provision in the activity rules which calls for the retirement of a student who has spent six years in activities on this campus. If it is still in effect I ask that it be enforced.

Undeclared Hoyas Favored Over Colonials

Hoyas Now Seeking Sixth Win

Favored Team Has Won Only One Contest

In direct contrast to both the Hoyas and previous Colonial court teams, the Buffmen this year have a squad bearing no individual stars but instead a well-rounded team that specializes in teamwork.

Coach Otis Zahn's boys boast of no such performers as Matt Zunic or Bobby Gilham. Instead, they are all of just about equal capacity and have proved to be a smooth working but not a high-scoring team.

If there has been any one stand-out so far this season, it must be Jimmy Rausch. The sandy-haired junior has been high-point man in three of the four games played, and reached his peak performance Saturday night at Quantico when he scored 18 points as the Buffmen dropped a 50-52 contest.

Likely to start for the Buffmen are Captain Joey Gallagher and Jim Myers at guard, Ed Gustafson at center, and John Konizewski—the surprise player of the year—and Rausch at forward.

Gallagher, playing his fourth season of brilliant ball since coming to the University from St. John's Prep, will be no stranger to the Hoyas, for against them he has always played his best ball. Myers, an in-and-outter, has also faced the Hoyas twice, and from a personal viewpoint this will be a rubber game for him.

Ed Gustafson, who did a wonderful job a year ago of tying up Georgetown's Bill Bornheimer, and Rausch, a fine defensive player, will be facing the Hoyas for the third time.

Big John Konizewski, however, will be seeking revenge for the three defeats the Hoyas have handed the Buff gridman, one of whom was "Konie." John, known for his football feats, has played brilliantly this year, and is in his senior year, showing the basketball ability he was known to possess when he first came to the University.

In reserve for the Buffmen and every bit as good as a number of the starters, are Bob Grotzinger, who has seen considerable action this year, 6 foot 5½ inch Don McNary, Bob Jackson, Ted Reichwein, Si Wagman and Len Sokol.

Buffmen Whip Aggies, Lose To Sailors and Marines

• A VICTORY OVER highly-touted Oklahoma A & M, though offset somewhat by losses to the powerful Norfolk Naval Training Station and the Quantico Marines, highlighted basketball activity for the University Colonials over the holidays as their season record sagged to the .500 percentage mark.

The Buffmen opened their second season as a member of the Southern Conference with an unimpressive 54-28 victory over Fort Meade, but have since improved steadily to demonstrate a fine brand of team work with no single stand-out as in previous years.

In their brilliant 39-34 upset of what Coach Hank Iba described as "potentially the best Aggie team I have ever coached," the Buffmen hit their usual mid-season form.

Led by a galaxy of Southwestern giants, including 7-foot Bob Kurland, the Aggies left the floor at half time with a 21-15 lead, but G. W. bounced back in the second half to outplay the Aggies 24-13, scoring 11 points in the final six minutes of play while holding the visitors scoreless.

Jimmy Rausch paced the Colonials with 9 points, while Jim Myers and Joe Gallagher each got 8. Jack Herron with 9 points sparked the Aggies.

Zunic Leads Sailors

After a gallant uphill struggle, the Colonials suffered their first defeat in dropping a 42-54 contest to the classy Norfolk Naval Training Station team led by Matt Zunic, last year's Colonial captain, and Larry Varnell, product of National Business College of Roanoke, Virginia.

Theta Delts Grab Fraternity Court Lead With Two Wins

• SIX GREEK court teams will renew activity in interfraternity basketball Thursday night when teams of League A will compete in three games.

The first game will get underway at 8 o'clock when Sigma Nu and Phi Sigma Kappa are scheduled to meet. Kappa Sigma vs. Theta Delta Chi at 9, and Sigma Chi vs. Pi Kappa Alpha at 10 will complete the card.

Friday night in League B Acacia meets Sigma Phi Epsilon at 8 o'clock. Kappa Alpha plays Sigma Alpha Epsilon at 9, and Tau Kappa Epsilon—the fifth member of that league—draws a bye.

In holiday activity, Theta Delta Chi's defending champions scored impressive 32-13 and 32-7 victories over Phi Sigma Kappa and Pi Kappa Alpha to go ahead of the field. TDX and PIKA, however, are the only two teams that have played more than one game.

In another League A battle, Sigma Chi, behind Phi Barber's 10 points, defeated Kappa Sigma 28-12. The final League A game found Sigma Nu, led by Stan Patten's 11 points, smothering PIKA 36-7.

THE UNIVERSITY HATCHET

WELL, HE MISSED ONE! Harry Varnell (3) of the Norfolk Naval Training Station missed this shot in the Navy-Colonial game at Tech during the holidays, but made enough of his shots to register 18 points, high for the night, as the Colonials bowed 42-54. Colonial players groping for the ball are Jim Rausch (8), Joey Gallagher, extreme left; and John Konizewski, barely visible. The rangy No. 9 is Ralph Bishop of the Tars.

Indians, Spiders Schedule Buffmen

• THOUGH the University has made no announcement concerning football for next year, it became apparent yesterday that they will at least try to field a team when William and Mary released its 1943 schedule.

The Indians are scheduled to play the Buffmen here on October 23. Also recently announced was Richmond's schedule, and they too listed the Colonials for a game.

In the season just completed, the Colonials defeated Richmond 27-0 but were slaughtered by the Indians 61-0.

TDX Wins Fraternity Grid Title

Donohue Scores Lone Touchdown On 55-Yard Run

• AN INSPIRED Theta Delta Chi fraternity football team ended Kappa Alpha's three-year domination of the interfraternity gridiron sport Sunday before last when they drove through a four-inch covering of snow on Potomac Park to win 6-0 on a 55-yard touchdown dash by John Donohue.

The Theta Delts, as was their custom throughout the year, scored early and were then satisfied to play a strictly defensive game throughout the second half. The TDX win ended a 21-game KA winning streak.

The score came early in the second period after the Theta Delts kicked off and the teams exchanged kicks several times. TDX finally got the ball on their own 35-yard line and made 10 yards in two tries. Then, on third down, Donohue, behind excellent blocking in the line and downfield, swept around his left end, cut in sharply, and then shot to the outside where he outdistanced his pursuers in a tight-rope act down the north sideline.

KA Attack Fails
Kappa Alpha's "usually bone-crushing running attack, which had overrun five regular season foes, failed to click Sunday for the first time, and therein lies the story of their loss. The snow must be given credit for a good bit of that, but a hard-charging Theta Delta line smeared play after play, and caused the KAs to resort to other unsuccessful methods of advancing the ball.

Losers Threaten Once
The losers threatened to score but once, that coming in the final period after they had recovered a fumble by Donohue on the TDX 35-yard line. A series of pass plays carried the ball to the 20-yard line, but the over-anxious KAs were then set back 20 yards on an off-side and holding penalty. And end run by Dancy and a pass play carried the ball to the 25, but the Theta Delts held and took the ball on downs at that point.

On The Other HAND

BY THERON RICE

• NOT THE CARD that says "Greetings," but that other one—the first little brown three by five one—has been deposited in your sports editor's mail box, so this is to say in many more words than actually necessary, goodbye, until . . .

For at the time you are looking at next week's issue of ye old Hatchet, yours truly hopes to have just passed a Marine Corps physical exam (among others) and heading south for Parris Island, South Carolina.

And so, before leaving:

First of all, to the University in general, I wish to say thanks for the privilege of saying in The Hatchet what we wish to say, and not having every article censored.

To Coaches Johnny Baker, Ray Hanken, Don Bomba and Zuzu Stewart, the best of luck on the gridiron next season if you're fortunate enough to have enough huskies to form a team still in school.

To Basketball Coach Arthur Zahn, keep up the fine work and make the University stay proud of its great basketball teams by having another one this year.

To Athletic Director Johnny Busick, a thousand thanks for the cooperation you have given the sports staff in getting together our few weekly masterpieces.

To the Washington metropolitan dailies, our sincere appreciation for allowing us to borrow your picture cuts and reproduce them in The Hatchet, even though we neglected to insert the due courtesy line every now and then.

To the publications office, thanks for a fine job of seeing that our ads, pictures, etc., got to the plant every Monday.

To the Mercury Press, which prints our paper and takes a real interest in it, thanks again.

And to the sports staff—though who constituted same was sometimes a mystery—my thanks for the fine brand of work you have done for me.

To those who have found it necessary to criticize our work, I also want to say thank you. It helped a great deal on occasion, but at times—I must say—was ill-founded. For the few letters that have come in praising our work we are really grateful. Such correspondence helped make our Sunday afternoons (and nights) seem just a little more worth the hours upon hours we spent getting the paper out each Tuesday.

And so, with the basketball season in full swing and a grand team to write about, I step aside for another as yet unannounced sports editor to publicize. Good luck, fellow or feminine successor, and keep those typewriter keys flying.
